

Mind Manipulation-O-Matic

demo

Tottington Hall's annual Giant Vegetable Competition is approaching. The winner of the competition will win the Golden Carrot Award. All are eager to protect their vegetables from damage and thievery by rabbits until the contest, and Wallace and Gromit are cashing in by running a vegetable security and humane pest control business, "Anti-Pesto".

However, they are faced with two problems: the first is Wallace's growing weight and the second is inadequate space for the captured rabbits. Wallace comes up with an idea — use his Mind Manipulation-O-Matic machine to brainwash the rabbits, allowing them to run freely without harming everyone's gardens. While performing the operation, he accidentally kicks the switch from Suck to Blow and a rabbit gets fused to wallace's head, somehow leaving them with a semi-intelligent rabbit who no longer has the appetite for vegetables, whom they name "Hutch". Soon the town is threatened by the "Were-Rabbit", a giant rabbit-like monster which eats vegetables of any size. During a chaotic yet hilarious town meeting, Anti-Pesto enters into a rivalry with Lord Victor Quartermaine to capture the Were-Rabbit and to win Lady Tottington's heart. After the first night of the Were-Rabbit, the townsfolk start to argue about what to do.

Creators See All

Wallace Something
Lead Inventor

Gromit Something
Dog

Similar Creations See All

Techno Trousers
Ex-Nasa Trousers to help going on walks

W&G Fixing Corp.
Get everything Fixed!

Inspirations See All

Marvin Ray-Gun
"This inspired me to experiment with weaponry."

Brain Wavemeter
"I just thought this was so bloody brilliant"

Comments See All

This is revolutionary stuff! I want in! When can I buy one?

My Brain Wavemeter is better.

Hello, my name is Peter Theil. I would like to invest in your company.

Post Here!